

INGRID HOCHMAYER

completed her studies of psychology with a master's degree at the University of Vienna.

During her studies, she came into contact with Clinical Research and so she started her professional career in the pharmaceutical industry, first as a Clinical Research Associate at FIDIA Pharmaforschung in Munich, then as a Clinical Research Scientist at Hoffmann La Roche in Vienna and later as Head of Clinical Research at Kolassa and Merz GmbH.

Shortly thereafter, she founded ZAK together with Jean-Jacques Chirkdjian.

Her main task at ZAK is Human Resources Management, Client Relationship and the Management of International Clinical Research.